Primary Over Till September.
The new primary law was rushed through the legislature last week, and is now the law of the state. It removes the date of the primaries in odd numbered years to the last Saturday of September, which this year is the last day of the month.

The new speaker told the new Congress that it must do something to reduce the cost of a living. It is much more likely to reduce the opportunities for making one.

TACOMA, Washington has, under the recall, given a plurality against a mayor a week after he had made his official appointments. The wonder is that an actual majority was not polled against him, but as it is impossible to recall an officer with a plurality, he will have another chance with the man whose vote was larger than his. The recall should always provide that it shall not be sprung immediately after the distribution of pie and the rage of the disappointed.

The much heralded school code, with more than a thousand amendments, most of them to suit the Philadelphia and Pittsburg crowd, has passed the House at Harrisburg and goes to Senate for enactment. When it gets through that body it will not recognize it. The new law is so voluminous and makes so many radical changes in the conduct of the schools that the man who wears hair cannot say that it is going to be satisfactory or that it will work to the betterment of our system—at least not until it is tried out.

SENATOR O'GORMAN of New York, it is said, will hold the deciding vote between the progressive and conservative Democrats in the Senate. So Tammany finds itself again in the saddle of the Democratic party at a time when that party was once more venturing to hope that it is not dead. The old man of the sea is still on its back.

It is altogether in the range of probabilities that Uncle Joe Cannon, who now sits with the highly respectable minority in Congress, will have as much fun as any of them out of the situation of things.
The veteran ex-speaker still carries his wit with him, as, when consulted about the appointment of a committee to appoint other committees, he said: "I oppose any such silly plan. When Jesus Christ appointed his 12 disciples he did not use a committee on committees and only one of his selections was a failure—that was Judas Iscariot—the only insurgent."

Mr. Speer Gets Quick Recognition.
The Pittsburg Dispatch's special correspondent, at Washington, in his account of the opening of the special session of Congress, said:

"Speer, of Oil City, was the first Pennsylvanian to draw recognition. This new member was named one of the two Republicans to sit with two Democrats as tellers of the speakership vote, while Clerk Alexander McDowell was still exercising the prerogatives of temporary presiding officer. Then came the seat drawings. Daisell was accorded the privilege of selecting his seat in advance, with Cannon, Payne, Mann, Bingham and a similar few on the Democratic side.
Great luck in early drawings landed in adjoining seats Olmstead, Grist and Harrison Moore, with Bingham next.
Burke got into the third section of seats, in "bankers' row," as it is quickly dubbed, with Weeks, McKinley and Mc-Kinney, of Illinois, nearby, Hartman, of Holidaysburg, on his right and Langham next. Stephen Porter got placed close in front and Matthew, Governor Tener's successor, was almost as well located.

"Speer and Crago also had good luck for newcomers, managing to file on aisle seats, five rows from the front, the former with Bates four seats off toward the side, next to Longworth, and the latter back of Langham and in front of Dr. Barchfield, who has a very late drawing. Patton, of Curwensville, is in the same locality."

RECENT DEATHS.

HULLINGS.
Friends here have been apprised of the death of John D. Hullings which occurred at the home of his daughter, Mrs. D. A. Edwards, (formerly Miss Sallie Hullings) Lonaconing, Maryland, Tuesday morning, April 4, 1911. The body was taken to Parsons, W. Va., his former home, on the 5th, when the interment was made beside the remains of his wife, where his elder son James H. resides.

John Dale Hulings was the youngest son of Major and Mrs. James Hullings, long since gone to their reward, and was born in Tionesta about 77 years ago.
When quite a young man he was united in marriage with Miss Lizzie Scott who preceeded him to the grave about 12 years ago. They resided in Tionesta the greater portion of their lives and reared their family here. Mr. Hullings followed lumbering for the most part while he lived in Tionesta, and was known as one of the safest and best river pilots on the Allegheny between here and Pittsburg.

Perhaps no citizen of his time was better known in the community or had more friends than "Dad" Hullings, by which endearing name he was universally known to his friends, and by whom the news of his death will be received with a pang of sorrow, and a feeling of regret that they were not again permitted to meet him in the flesh. The family left Tionesta upward of twenty-five years ago settling in Tucker county, W. Va. From there, after the death of his wife, Mr.
Hullings went to Colorado where he looked after gold mining interest for his brother, the late William W. Hullings.

The deceased was the last of the Hullings family to pass away. Four children survive, namely, James H., of Parsons, W.
Va., William, now living in the Mexican oil regions, Mrs. Simeon R. Cogan, of Scappoose, Columbia county, Oregon, and Mrs. D. A. Edwards, Lonaconing, Md.

WALTERS.
David R. Walters was born in Westmoreland county, Pa., January 10, 1826, and died at his home in Green township, Forest county, April 10, 1911, being thus aged 85 years and 3 months.

The summons came suddenly to Mr.
Walters. Although not in robust health during the past few years, owing to advanced age, he felt well as usual in the morning, ate an early breakfast, attended his chores and was preparing to come to Tionesta. About 7 o'clock he became ill, and in a little over an hour expired.
When quite a young man the deceased came to this section and made his home in the vicinity of Newmansville, being employed at lumbering and farming.
He was united in marriage more than fifty-five years ago with Miss Lydia Everhart whose death occurred about twelve years ago. Five children by this union survive, namely, Orris Walters, of Green township; Charles D., of Tionesta tpw.; Mrs. Peter Hepler residing on the old homestead; Mrs. Daniel Walters, Irvington, Pa.; Mrs. George McGowan, Nebraska Pa. One brother, Anthony Walters, also survives.

Nearly forty years ago Mr. Walters purchased the farm which has since been his home, and most of which he cleared and cultivated. It is located about a mile west of Newmansville, and here he lived peacefully and contentedly the life of a farmer, respected and honored for his sterling honesty, his kind neigh-borly ways and his honorable, upright dealings with his fellowmen. Mr. Walters was a veteran of the civil war, serving in Co. B, 106th Pennsylvania volunteer Regiment the full term of his enlistment, and leaving an honorable record as a soldier. He was a member of Stow Post G. A. R. of Tionesta.

The funeral will be held this afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Lutheran church near Newmansville, to be followed by the interment beside his wife, in the cemetery connected with the church.

Charged With Murder of Emil Amann.

John M. Andrews, one of Warren's prominent citizens, was placed under arrest last Saturday charged with the murder of Emil Amann on the night of Jan-. 27, 1911. The arrest of so prominent a man on so serious a charge is second only in its sensational features to the murder itself, and though not unexpected has stirred the city as it has not been for many years.

Mr. Amann hired a rig at the Wallace livery at 7:30 on the fatal night, saying that he would be gone about 35 minutes.
That was the last seen of him until the following morning when his dead body was found in the field to the north of the reservoir with three bullet holes through his head, and near him lay a .38 calibre Colt automatic revolver. It has since developed that this revolver was sold by the William Spinner Hardware Co. At the coroner's inquest held shortly after the murder Mr. Andrews stated that a revolver similar to this one had been given to him, but he did not recognize this as the one. He stated that he had never carried the gun but once, and then he had placed it in a drawer in the director's desk at the office of the Warren Water Co. and that it had been left there when his resignation from the company's employ took effect.

The arrest of Andrews was made by Constable Brown, who with Pinkerton Detective Myers has been working on the case ever since the holding of the inquest, and who claim to have sufficient evidence to justify the arrest at this time.

John M. Andrews was formerly a resident of Broshton, a suburb of Pittsburg.
From there he moved to Gallon, O., where he resided for some time, removing to there to Warren. He was subsequently married to Miss Laura Sheldon of Sherman, N. Y., a teacher in the public schools. He was chosen as superintendent of the Warren Water Company, which is a branch of the American Water Works company. This position he held until a little more than a year ago when he was succeeded by Superintendent Gadeby. At one time Mr. Andrews held the office of Vice President of the Warren Water Company.

The murdered man Emil Amann was one of the city's most highly respected citizens. For many years he was employed as field superintendent of the Warren Water Works under Mr. Andrews. This position he resigned a few weeks before Mr. Andrews left the employ of the water company. He was subsequently employed by the city to assist in taking an inventory of the pipes, plant and other property of the water company, with a view to appraisal and purchase by the city.
